"KRAB, wrapped in yesterday's reveries,
It's strange how they bring back the past,
like magic again,
You'll hear the old tunes, the new tunes,
with Carmen Lombardo,
On K-R-A-B. 107.7, do wah!"
-Jingle, purchased in a moment of pique.

Any attempt to make the radio an advertising medium, in the accepted sense of the word, would, we think, prove positively offensive to great numbers of people. The family circle is not a public place, and advertising has no business intruding there unless it is invited...The man who does not want to read a paint ad in the newspaper can turn the page and read something else. But the man at the end of the radio must listen, or shut it off entirely. That is a big distinction that ought not to be overlooked.

---1920's advertising publication

I aint no midget.
